Towing Update

The TOWNweek ad of June 30 reported on the towing ordinance. More recent activity in the North Carolina courts has suspended the Town's ability to enforce the ordinance. For more, visit www.townofchapelhill.org/towing.

Flood Response

To assist residents with clean-up activities, the Town is waiving its household bulky waste pickup fee for residents with flood damage. Residents with flood debris may call Public Works (919-969-5100) to arrange a special collection and verify that crews can collect their waste items.

Crews will not be collecting construction and demolition wastes (e.g., sheetrock, insulation, treated wood, etc.) or household hazardous wastes.

Assistance in the form of fee waivers is also being provided for those who are repairing flood damaged property. In most situations, repairing flood damaged properties, including residential and non-residential (commercial, office, institutional) development, will require a zoning and/or building permit (for example damaged foundations, interior flood damage, damaged roof, collapsed retaining walls, washed out driveways, sidewalks etc.).

Central North Carolina Red Cross Chapter will continue to operate the Flood Assistance Center at the University Mall in Chapel Hill, 201 S. Estes Drive inside the mall between Dillard's and GNC. The center is open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday. Call the center at 919-903-0676 or the Red Cross at 919-489-6541.

Seeking Input on Advisory Boards

The Town Council invites advisory board members and interested community members to learn about and comment on a proposal for a system of five advisory boards to support the Town's development process. Community input sessions will be held at the Chapel Hill Public Library at 6:30 p.m. every Monday evening through Aug. 12.

The series will begin with an overview session describing the structure and goals of the subsequent community input sessions. Each of the following sessions will focus on creating a charge and scope of work for one of the five proposed advisory boards; Transportation and Connectivity Advisory Board, Community Design Advisory Board, Environmental Stewardship Advisory Board, Community Housing Advisory Board and Planning Board.
