1	Not sure. It depends on how things proceed. I think the Town's residents and Advisory/Board members have provided clear direction on the stream buffer/RCD issue (simplification and no reductions in protection), yet there still appears to be significant pressure to reduce the protections. This is interesting since not a single person spoke in favor of reducing protections at the meeting.	10/4/2013 7:29 PM

1	This meeting provided some information. The two meetings I have attended have seemed to be pre-planned, with the hope for some input from the public, but do not feel like the public input will change the course of the town's plans. (The public input may provide additional ideas, but the final document will be the result of the town staff and consultants, not the public input.)	10/4/2013 5:11 PM
